8. Project Sustainable Sipping : (Jan – Dec)

Project Sustainable Sipping is a flagship initiative by JCI India aimed at addressing a critical public health and environmental challenge—the rampant use of single-use plastic water bottles. These plastics contain harmful chemicals that are potentially cancer-causing and contribute significantly to environmental pollution.

The project promotes a simple yet impactful behavioral change: switching from disposable plastic bottles to safe, reusable stainless steel water bottles. By targeting high-visibility and high-usage groups such as auto-rickshaw drivers, cab drivers, and street-based workers, the project amplifies its impact through visibility, awareness, and daily practice.

The initiative not only reduces plastic waste but also safeguards health, promotes sustainable living, and positions JCI India as a leader in grassroots environmental action. The project further aims to achieve recognition in the Asia Book of Records for its large-scale promotion of sustainable hydration practices.

Objectives

- To eliminate the use of single-use plastic water bottles among target groups.
- To promote reusable stainless steel bottles as a safe and sustainable alternative.
- To create awareness about the health risks associated with plastic bottles.
- To reduce plastic waste generated on streets and public spaces.
- To document large-scale impact and achieve recognition in the Asia Book of Records.

Target Groups

- Auto-rickshaw drivers
- Cab and taxi drivers
- Street vendors and daily commuters
- Other individuals with frequent outdoor exposure to plastic bottle usage

These groups were selected due to their high visibility, daily plastic usage, and influence on public behavior.

Strategic Approach

- Distribution of stainless steel water bottles with JCI India and Project branding
- Awareness sessions on health and environmental benefits
- Branding and visibility to reinforce behavioral change
- Documentation of distribution and outreach for record submission

Beneficiaries

- Auto-rickshaw and cab drivers
- Street vendors and outdoor workers
- Commuters and general public influenced by visibility, etc

Project Sustainable Sipping demonstrates how a simple lifestyle change can lead to powerful health and environmental outcomes. By replacing single-use plastic bottles with reusable steel bottles, JCI India has taken a decisive step toward cancer prevention, environmental protection, and sustainable living.

The project reflects JCI's commitment to active citizenship, leadership, and global impact, and stands as a strong contender for recognition at both national and international levels, including the Asia Book of Records.
